Checking all the angles

The Grade 7 team from New Myrnam School goes to extreme lengths to check out the angles for their calculation in the Math Olympics group activity, which involved making a horizontal measurement between a base location and the gym wall, determining the angle between the horizontal measurement and the target location, and determining the height of the target location using those calculations to create a scale drawing on graph paper.

Mathletes compete for Olympic gold

Teams of junior high students from schools across St. Paul Education Regional Division No. 1 converged on Elk Point on Wednesday for Math Olympics 2014, an event which challenged, entertained and informed participants as they racked up points toward banners and cash prizes for their schools.

Colin Bjorkman welcomed participants and outlined the day's program, suggesting that teachers collect students' cell phones, as they would face disqualification if they used the internet for the duration of the challenge. After watching a short video clip showing a hilarious misinterpretation of mathematical calculations, involving 1950s television personalities Ma and Pa Kettle, the competition got underway.

Teams from each of grades seven, eight and nine in each school took their places at assigned tables to work together on a 30-question logic and pattern recognition test, with input from each team member and one answer sheet handed in per team. Following a brief snack break, teams undertook a puzzle challenge, while after lunch, they faced a group activity that involved measuring and geometry to find the height of a feature in the gymnasium. After establishing a starting point, teams carefully measured from that point to the wall, and used a ruler and protractor to determine the angle between the floor or table and the top of the wall paneling, balcony railing or heat vent. The measurement and angle were then drawn onto graph paper to determine the height of their assigned feature, before handing in their answers.

Rezoning bylaw would allow more high density residential development

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

Elk Point town council gave first reading last week to a bylaw that would rezone a parcel of land along the north side of the north subdivision from R1 Residential to R3 High Density Residential. The bylaw will now be advertised and a public hearing held prior to the final two readings. Other options for that land were discussed prior to passing the first reading.

Support for handi-bus

Council agreed to support the Heritage Lodge Auxiliary Society with $2,000 from the Municipal Sustainability Initiative funding, to assist with operation of the handi-bus used to transport residents of the lodge, Buckingham House and Fort George Manor on recreational trips and occasionally for medical trips, and within the community for social activities.

Playground

Residents in the vicinity of the Centennial Park playground have expressed concerns with the condition of the equipment, especially with the wood frames. Coun. Debra McQuinn noted that there are also problems with playground equipment in Markstad Park. Council agreed that this should be looked into and will ask public works superintendent Jay Duffee to check out the condition of equipment in both parks.

Subdivision supported

Council gave their support to an application to subdivide a lot owned by Bumper to Bumper in the new industrial subdivision, noting that this would make another lot with highway frontage available.

Highway signs

Word has been received from Minister of Tourism, Parks and Recreation Dr. Richard Starke that tourism operators and communities no longer have to pay a renewal fee for attraction signs. The $400 subsidy off permit fees for up to two signs per attraction will continue, with operators continuing to sign a permit agreement every five years, to ensure the attractions are still open to the public.

Grant information

Information was received on the provincial government's new online application system for MSI grants, which is felt will streamline the process.

Notification was received that the town's 2013 Basic Municipal Transportation Grant, in the amount of $94,260, and the third payment for the regional waterline, in the amount of $1 million, under the Water for Life Initiative, were on their way.

Godlien elected OORP District Deputy

One of Elk Point Order of the Royal Purple's newest members has been elected as District 8's District Deputy for the coming year.

The election of Bernadette Godlien to the prestigious post came near the end to Saturday's District Meeting in Mannville, with Supreme Honoured Royal Lady Marg Brown, Provincial second vice-resident Esther Smith and a total of 48 Royal Purple members from Lloydminster, Vermilion, Vegreville, Myrnam, Mannville and Elk Point in attendance.

Godlien is also a member of the Elk Point Elks Lodge and is an Elks Past District Deputy.

Participants were welcomed by Mannville HRL Connie Ewing, Mannville Elks Exalted Ruler Jim Myhovic and Town of Mannville Coun. Kelly Dalton to officially open the meeting.

All lodges had a part in the program. Ladies of the Lloydminster and Vermilion lodges draped the charter in memory of three members who have passed away during the past year, while the Elk Point members led the Sunshine March and Vegreville and Myrnam lodges combined forces for the District Deputy Drill. Mannville lodge performed the closing ceremony.

Honoured Royal Ladies or their designates presented reports on their membership statistics, Vegreville being the largest group with 42 members including two newcomers, Lloydminster with 21, Elk Point with 20, including three new members, Vermilion and Myrnam with 17 members each and Mannville with 16.

Messages from SHRL Brown and P2VP Smith centred on the upcoming vote on the future of the OORP of Canada, and whether the lodge wishes to remain under the Elks charter as an auxiliary, incorporate on its own, or become part of the Elks. Each OORP member will have a vote, and SHRL Brown emphasized, "It's your vote, you say which way you want to go." Canada wide, the OORP has approximately 3,000 members, while the Elks have 12,000.

The afternoon ended with each lodge's choice of 'traveling gavel' presentation, which ranged from piano music to entertaining stories to cowboy poetry, and draws for a number of door prizes.

by Your Natural Choice Apple Drugs pharmacist, Seyi Oyebo

- Acetaminophen is the most commonly used pain reliever in the world. But just because it's popular doesn't mean it can't cause any problems. Don't exceed the dose recommended on the label. Liver damage can occur with taking too much of the drug for a long period of time.
- Do you remember your mother giving you oatmeal for breakfast because it would "stick to your ribs" and keep you full till lunch? Well, there is some truth to that. If you are always ravenous come lunchtime, try a bowl of oatmeal for breakfast. It will keep hunger away better than dry cereals.
- Pertussis is a disease that is preventable through vaccination. It is a serious illness in infants where it can be life-threatening. Pertussis is also called "whooping cough" because of the "whooping" sound that is made when gasping for air after a fit of coughing.
- Manufacturers of tablet medication put a score line on the tablet if it is OK to cut the tablet in half. If there is no score line, it may not be good to cut it in half. When in doubt, check with your pharmacist. There is a good reason why some tablets should not be broken and breaking it could affect how it works in the body.
- Whether you are wondering about a new drug that is coming on the market or an old one that's been around a while, you can depend on our pharmacists for reliable information.

Is April fooling?

The chilly weather of the past week left us all wondering what happened to the springlike warmth and disappearing snow of the pleasant days we had enjoyed such a short time before.

The forecast for this week is for improvement, creeping back to the average temperatures we are supposed to have at this time of year. Is this warming trend going to continue, or is it merely a ruse that will have us put away our winter gear and shiver our way through the balance of spring the next time Mother Nature has a change of heart?

Only time will tell.

Either way, we are far better off than southern Alberta, with its repeated dumps of snow, or the Atlantic provinces, who have been buried time after time since the snow started to fall in October.

Geese are arriving, the pussy willows are blooming, and tree buds are starting to look fatter... or is that our imagination, brought on by our endless hope that winter is coming to an end?

Please, Mr. Weatherman, keep your April Fool's jokes to yourself, and order us some warm weather.

WAY BACK WHEN...

Provincials, petition, sellout performances

HERE'S THE NEWS THAT MADE THE HEADLINES OF THE LAKELAND REVIEW AND ELK POINT REVIEW FOR THE WEEK OF APRIL 1 IN...

Elk Point Wolverines, Roger DeMoissac, James Makowecki, Brian Makowecki, Jason Morris, Robyn Morozuk, Aaron McLellan, Doug Irvine, Tyson Stafford, Kyle Sakowsky, Brad Poitras, Kyle Lawrence, Dwayne Porcina, Cody Lawrence, Daniel Lessard, Ashley Lessard, Jeff Lypka and Clayton Holthe, were off to the Pee-wee 'D' Provincials.

1994

Elk Point Bantam Lightning Elks made their annual trip to Calgary for the Value Drug Mart Bantam Tournament, winning the 'C' event of the 40-team tourney, Conway Roscoe scoring two goals and Aseni Quinney one goal in the 3-1 final win, while goalie Jeff Mehydyn won the tournament's Most Valuable Goalie trophy.

1999

A petition presented to town council, protesting the installation of curb and gutter as part of a project that included paving and new utility lines, was deemed insufficient, as signatures were not witnessed, addresses weren't correct and the second page did not have a heading with the required information.

2004

Eight sell-out performances came to a standing-ovation end for the Elk Point Community Choir and Friends, with a total of 1,680 ticket holders from as far away as Lac La Biche, Maidstone and Fort Saskatchewan enjoying their visit to 'Oklahoma!'

2009

Bald was beautiful as Elk Point Volunteer Firefighters surrendered their locks in support of four-year-old cancer victim Abby Rybchinsky in front of a packed crowd at the Elk Point Fire Hall on an fundraising evening that included a barbecue supper and a live auction of slave firemen and donated items.

THE EVOLUTION OF A CANADIAN IN WINTER

HISTORICAL HIGHLIGHTS

Elk Point's history continues

From 'Reflections' and 'Supplement to Reflections' to our centennial

ELK POINT HISTORICAL SOCIETY

Review Contributor

An ocean's worth of water has flowed down the North Saskatchewan River since the Elk Point Historical Society published its pair of local history books, Reflections and Supplement to Reflections, in 1977 and 1978. The community has grown in both population and area, and has weathered both the boom and bust times of the oil industry, as well as dramatic changes in the agricultural sector.

In 1978, Elk Point's economy still had a large focus on the farming community, with Alberta Wheat Pool and United Grain Growers grain elevators, the Northeastern Livestock Co-op stockyard and a railway line that hauled the grain and pigs to market as well as a welding shop, bulk fuel dealers and machinery dealers that sold and repaired farm equipment. We even had an apiary, producing honey and beeswax from hives located across the area.

We had a movie theatre, a hockey arena and a museum, a bank, a variety of retail stores, a lumberyard, a coin laundry, a newly expanded hotel, two motels and a Ford dealership. Elk Point Co-op was already in its third location, at the intersection of 50 Ave and Main Street, across from the current store, with a meat market in the building's northwest corner.

Local doctors treated 5,564 outpatients and admitted 1,806 inpatients, delivered babies and performed minor surgery in their shiny new hospital, which had a staff of 18 RNs and 24 nursing assistants among its large staff. The hospital and the Canadian Salt Plant at Lindbergh were the largest employers in the area, Canadian Salt with 75 plant staff and another 19 personnel in the office.

Retirees were happily settling into Buckingham House, the town's first seniors' accommodation, and 210 of the area's seniors were involved in the activities at the thriving Pioneer Circle drop-in centre, a large figure considering that Elk Point had a population estimated at 900 and a total of 360 residences at that time.

The editor of the two history books, Mary Bennett, Elk Point Historical Society chairman Sid Holthe, vice-chairman Lawrence Sumpton, secretary Ila Borwosky and treasurer Lawrence Modin and many of the others involved in their creation have now passed on, and still others have left the area over the years, but history has kept happening, one day at a time.

Elk Point's history, as recorded in those two books, along with the histories of the neighbouring communities of Lindbergh, Ferguson Flats and their book, 'Reminiscing Ferguson Flats' and Heinsburg's 'Land of Red and White', are now part of the Elk Point Historical Society website, www.elkpointhistory.ca as are additional historical writings by Steve Andrishak, F. G. Miller and others. In the coming months, Elk Point Historical Society hopes to make a start on transforming the news of the 29 years between the completion of 'Supplement to Reflections' and Elk Point's 2007 centennial celebrations into a series of new chapters in our community's history.

As this process unfolds, historical highlights from the years between 1979 and 2007 will appear in the Elk Point Review on a weekly basis, prior to an expanded version becoming part of the Historical Society website. The Historical Society invites you to join its members on this journey through the last three decades of Elk Point's first century.

The Elk Point Review publishes a variety of opinions as a contribution to debate on matters of public concern. Unsigned editorials express the view of this newspaper's editorial board which includes the Publisher and the Editor. Signed pieces express the view of the individual writer.

Former NHL players to attend Xtreme Hockey Night

RYAN MCCracken

Review Contributor

St. Paul will welcome former NHL players Darcy Tucker and Shayne Corson, as well as an array of local talent, to the Clancy Richard Arena on April 12 for the second annual Xtreme Hockey Night in St. Paul, hosted by Westlock-St. Paul MP Brian Storseth.

"I've done a few charity hockey games down east with (Tucker and Corson) and built a good relationship with them, and they've both decided to come out," said Storseth. "We've got some former professional players coming, but I think the real highlight of this event is showing off the rich hockey history that we have in St. Paul."

The day will begin at 1:30 p.m. with a youth shootout and skills competition, where local youngsters will be invited out onto the ice to show their shots, speed, skill and agility.

"We reached out to minor hockey in each of our communities, so Elk Point, Two Hills, Glendon, St. Paul and Mallaig, this year we invited the Bantam level to send five individuals to come participate in the skills competition," he said. "Fastest skater, hardest shot, those kind of things."

The puck drops for the big game at 2 p.m. with Tucker captaining one team and Corson taking the lead for the other. Storseth said the game will be both a unique opportunity to see some former NHL greats hit the ice, and an exciting display of the vast hockey talent within the Lakeland area.

"The really exciting part about this event is that it's an opportunity to show off some of the local talent, that's what I really love about this event. You've got guys like Corey deMoissac, Shawn Germain, Shawn LaFrance, the list goes on and on, Brad Crawchuk, guys that played Junior A and even Major Junior and professional hockey to all come out of St. Paul," he said. "We've actually invited one of the young boys in AAA hockey that's from St. Paul to come play in the game, Brayden Labant is coming this year. It's great, we've got some scouts coming from the WHL to check out a couple of the young guys. I think it's going to be a lot of fun and it's an opportunity to show off our community."

The event will also feature the retirement of three jerseys, as guests of honour Wilf Martin, Pierre Dechaine and Guy deMoissac will have their numbers hang from the rafters at Clancy Richard Arena.

"I know from talking with Calvin (Bespalko), the president of minor hockey, it really is about demonstrating the history of our community and the hockey history."

It's so rich and most people don't know about it," said Storseth, adding all three guests of honour played hockey for the Regina Pats, and that all three have donated countless hours of their time to minor hockey in St. Paul. "It's an opportunity to thank these men and their families for the amazing work that they've done."

Fellow MPs Patrick Brown (Barrie, Ont.), Blake Richards (Chair of Parliamentary Tourism Caucus, Airdrie) and James Rajotte (Chair of Parliament's Standing Committee on Finance, Edmonton) will also take to the ice, while Minister of Western Economic Diversification Michelle Rempel will take on a role as coach.

"Three of them are playing, Michelle doesn't play hockey so she'll be coaching," he said. "That stuff's great, and it certainly adds to our game."

Following the game, a banquet will be held at the Recreation Centre starting at 5:30 p.m. Storseth said the banquet will showcase both the theme of the event and the local hockey legacies of Martin, Dechaine and deMoissac. A silent auction and live auction will be held at the banquet, with all funds raising going to local organizations.

"I can't speak to where it's all going because that's the committee's choice, but certainly I know the Columbus House of Hope will be receiving some of the money," said Storseth. "I know that each of the surrounding communities that comes and volunteers and puts effort in gets a chunk of money going to their Ag. Societies or wherever they decide, and the rest is dispersed through St. Paul."

For more information on Xtreme Hockey Night in St. Paul, and a complete list of rosters, visit www.xtremehockeynight.ca. Tickets can be purchased at the door $10 for adults, with free admittance to anyone aged 17-and-under. Tickets cover the skills competition and the game.

"There's really such an amazing hockey history we have in our town, and in our area," said Storseth. "This game is an opportunity to show off that history to the young kids in our community, and show them that with hard work and dedication they can go on and play in Chilliwack or Regina, or Michigan State or even professional hockey like some of the guys that are there."

Good times at Vinge Memorial Tournament

They ranged from age 18 to 60, males and females, five teams altogether and a good time was had by all! Even though it was all for fun, we still had some very competitive games at the last hurrah, the fourth annual Jim Vinge Memorial Hockey Tournament to wind up the season at the A. G. Ross Arena.

The format works great and has been in place for four years now. Each team has a captain who selects his team at the Wednesday night draft, picking a goalie and players from the various categories, some of those being exceptional players who played junior hockey somewhere, to average players, to even a few who have never played any organized hockey, to us old timers. Leanne Vinge as usual did another super job of keeping everything organized and running well. Her youngest daughter Hayley "Comet" Vinge was helping her mom with odds and ends. Her oldest daughter Kelsey "the Champ" Vinge and son Brayden "Mr. Scrooge" Vinge both took part in helping the committee, but also played in the tournament. Rose Vinge, her daughter Carla and the rest of her family and friends did another outstanding job of home cooking the roast beef meal and also made some of the best deserts I have ever eaten, especially the "He shoots,, he scores" desert. I could have done seconds on the dessert, if I hadn't already filled up on the roast beef. But I did sneak a few treats into my pocket for later. There are no losers here, just winners and in the words of Jim himself, "You're the Best!"

Brodin "the Bull" Ference started his hockey career right here in Elk Point and up until two years ago, he played with the Avalanche, racking up the points. This year he tried out and made the AAA bantam team, the Lloydminster Heat and played in the most elite league in Alberta. What makes this league so special is only the very best bantam players are going to make it at this level. The time commitment is huge, two or three practices through the week and the team travel every weekend all over the province to places like Red Deer, Calgary, Lethbridge, etc. The parents are expected to foot the bill and fundraise as the team only travels on a bus and stays together in motels. Scouts, especially from the Western Hockey League and the Alberta Junior A Hockey league, come from all over western Canada to evaluate the boys. For the first time ever the Lloydminster Heat won the AAA bantam provincial championship last weekend in Calgary and is now off to Kelowna for the Westerns. The "Bull" was part of the chemistry that makes a winning team. Much like his nick name "the Bull" is a big powerful forward who with his size can hammer guys in the corners and feed the snipers the puck, but even though he is known more as a set up guy, he still has a bit of a scoring touch himself around the net and has already been invited to a number of spring Junior A camps. After the Westerns, you can be sure many more invites will be arriving.

Earlier we talked about the Western Hockey League and as it turns out, one of our home town boys is playing goalie with the Prince George Cougars and since they didn't make the playoff this year, he has been hanging around the last few weeks giving clinics to our local minor hockey goalies twice a week: Brett "Mr. Zero" Zarowny. Even though he only played a few years here up until the time his father, Kendall was transferred, as far as I'm concerned he was born here, his roots are here, and he's a hometown boy.

A funny thing happened this past weekend; sitting in the dressing room, getting suited up for our first game of the Vinge tournament I looked around at some unfamiliar faces and asked, "Who is our goalie?" This youngster answered "I am" so I said "Who are you?" to which he replied, "Brett Zarowny." I laughed my head off because I have been following his career for quite a few years now, even though he was no longer here, and had asked his father for an autographed photo of him when he made it on the Cougars. It is an action shot so with his face mask on, so of course I could be forgiven for not knowing him. He did a great job for us,, by the way, we were out-shot big time in every game but we still managed to win all four.

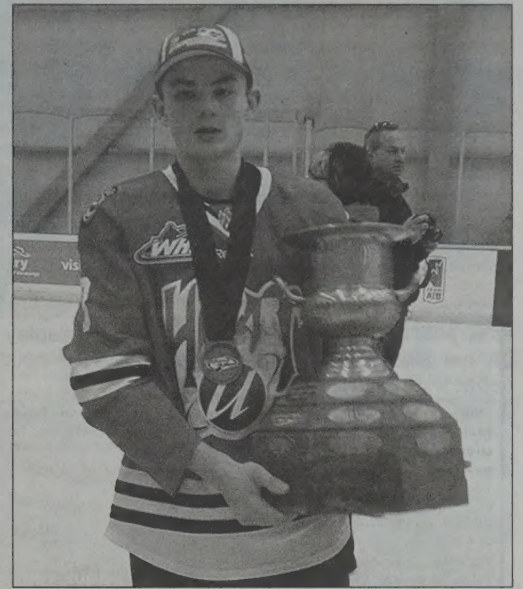

Well, I guess that's it for the AGR for his year, we are pulling the plug on the plant today, and that, folks, is not an April Fool's joke!

Brett "Mr. Zero" Zarowny, a Prince George Cougars player who was part of the Elk Point Minor Hockey system in his earliest hockey days, has been conducting goalie clinics for our minor hockey goalies in the past few weeks.

And now for the K.A. Campbell quote of the week. "Hockey captures the essence of Canadian experience in the New World. In a land so inescapable and inhospitable cold, hockey is the chance of life, and an affirmation that despite the deathly chill of winter we are alive. "Last weeks answer to: "You've got to go to the net if you want to score. "- Tom McVie

Be part of building the North Saskatchewan Regional Plan

The Government of Alberta is looking for individuals who live, work, play and have an interest in the North Saskatchewan region to become members of the Regional Advisory Council for the North Saskatchewan Regional Plan. Council members are appointed by Cabinet and will be led by a Chair who represents the Government of Alberta.

Council members will be required to strategically consider what is best for the entire region at a holistic level and provide advice to Cabinet in the development of the regional plan. The Regional Advisory Council will also provide advice based on input received through regional public, stakeholder and Aboriginal consultation, and background information provided by the Government of Alberta.

Successful candidates for the Regional Advisory Council will be notified directly. Expenses and honorariums will be provided to council members. Closing date for nominations is April 23, 2014. For further information about council requirements, duties and to submit your interest for participation, please visit the Land-use Framework website at: <http://www.landuse.alberta.ca>.

F. G. Miller Junior High Crusaders proudly display their gold Math Olympics banner after a challenging but energizing encounter with some unfamiliar aspects of mathematics.

Measuring first the horizontal distance, above, and then the degree of angle between the horizontal and the vertical subject (right) before drawing the diagram on graph paper were vital steps in the day's final activity.

Scores from all three events were tabulated, with F. G. Miller claiming top score in the logic test, with Racette second and Glen Avon third. Glen Avon and F. G. Miller tied for top marks in the puzzle challenge, with Racette second and Mallaig third, while in the group activity, Mallaig, Racette, Myrnam and Two Hills ended up with a four-way tie.

Overall, Glen Avon accumulated 111 points for the bronze banner and a $100 cash prize from Elk Point BPO Elks Lodge No. 460, Racette was just one point ahead for the silver banner and $150 from B & R Eckels, and F. G. Miller racked up a 118 point total to capture the gold and a $200 prize from Elk Point Insurance Ltd.

F. G. Miller teacher Deb Poulin was one of the event coordinators, and said the Olympics competition "has been great. They were all working together, and it makes me very proud."

The Elk Point 4-H Beef Club meets success

BY KAILEY WIRSTA
Club Reporter

Two of our members, Kailey and Lexi Wirsta, went to Regional Public Speaking in Wainwright. They placed second in Junior Presentations.

We had four members, Ashley Bristow, Heidi Tymko, Kailey and Lexi Wirsta, attend Western Canadian Judging at Lakeland College in Vermilion. They judged 16 classes in the categories of beef, dairy, goats, sheep, draft horse, rabbits, forage, and seeds. They all did really well.

The club placed fifth overall, against all other 4-H and college teams. Other placings include: Overall Reasons - 7th; Overall Placings - 2nd; Beef - 1st; Dairy - 8th; Horse - 6th; Rabbits - 3rd. We have our Mini Achievement Day planned at K-Cow Ranch for April 12th. We are all really excited and can't wait to bring our projects to clip and practice showing.

We would like to inform you about our new fundraisers. Our spring fundraisers are recycling batteries, just let us know where to come pick them up. As well, if anyone would like to purchase a cake pan with personalized lid, ask any of our members. They will be here in time for Mother's Day!!

If you want you can check out the club's facebook page and see past and upcoming events.

SEED PRODUCTION Specialist, Brett Young Seeds, Peace Region, Alberta. Brett Young is a privately owned and trusted seed distribution, sales and marketing company with international reach and strong local roots since 1934. Our goal is to deliver value to our customers through world class service and differentiated products. We are currently seeking a dynamic and experienced individual to join our Seed Production Team to support our continued growth. Seed Production Specialist. We are seeking a professional with a passion for agronomy. You will work with the Production Team to seek out and secure seed production acres for forage and turf seed to achieve company seed production targets and then work with these contract growers on production agronomics to help ensure yields and seed quality are maximized. This position also includes a seed purchasing function in the Peace Region that works closely with the Production Team to build relationships, procure acres and coordinate the scheduling of deliveries as per production requirements. Thus, success in this position will be achieved through a balance of sales and agronomy. You will work independently within your territory from the Rycroft facility/your home-based office, but will also work closely with Head Office and the rest of the Seed Production Team to achieve territory and corporate goals. You will also work with Regional Account Managers in our Seed and Crop Inputs (Retail) division that operate in your territory to help identify potential contract growers. The successful candidate will have a proven ability to plan and manage his/her time effectively and have strong communication skills both internally and externally to promote, support and grow our Seed Production division. Brett Young provides sales and product training, however, education, training and experience in sales and/or agronomy is a definite asset and a Bachelor of Science in Agriculture is preferred. Brett Young Seeds supports professional growth and development and offers an attractive compensation package including salary, company vehicle and an outstanding benefits package. Brett Young Seeds is an Equal Opportunity employer. Interested applicants are invited to apply and submit a letter of interest and a resume to: Human Resources, Brett Young Seeds, Box 99, St. Norbert Postal Station, Winnipeg, MB, R3V 1L5. Fax 204-478-8370. Email: Human.Resources@brettyoung.ca.

Fourth year for Vinge Memorial Hockey Tournament

VICKI BROOKER
Review Staff

It was as much a homecoming as a hockey tournament this weekend, as former Elk Point Elks, St. Paul Canadiens, recreational teammates, Storm, Thunder and Avalanche players hit the ice at the A. G. Ross Arena for the Fourth Annual Jim Vinge Memorial Hockey Tournament.

Even the referees were former Elk Point Minor Hockey players, Kendall Zarowny and Tim Poulin,

Five teams were drafted from players of all ages over 18 and of all skill levels, and played a total of 10 games over the weekend, with time out on Saturday evening for a great banquet, with food sponsored by businesses and individuals and prepared by volunteers, followed by a social evening at the Seniors Recreation Centre. The weekend also offered plenty of time for reminiscing, and as one minor hockey dad from years past said, lots of "Remember the time I scored that goal ..."

Teams were sponsored by Bump Energy Services, Prairie Tech Oilfield Services, Shock Oilfield Services, Tervita and Xtreme Oilfield Technology, and a fifth set of jerseys was sponsored by Elk Point Insurance.

Leanne Vinge, who shared the organizing committee with Doug Bassett, Murray Cochrane, Scott Dallaire and her son Brayden, said she felt the weekend had gone very well. Good crowds were on hand to watch some very entertaining games and to cheer on their favorites from past and present.

Proceeds from this year's tournament will be shared between the Alberta Heart and Stroke Foundation, renovations to the A. G. Ross Arena's Horizon Room, the Katelyn Hunter Recovery Fund, and the Face Off for Alzheimer's Hockey Tournament.

Both Kelsey "The Champ" Vinge (No. 2, above) and her brother Brayden "Mr. Scrooge" (No. 11, below right) were part of Team Bump, and showed that their hockey skills and competitive spirit have definitely stayed with them since their days with Elk Point Storm and Elk Point Avalanche.

Former Elk Point Minor Hockey player and Elk Point Elks goalie Duane Wolanuk was back in the net this weekend for Team Shock, as they took on Team Bump, which included in its roster some of his former teammates, Murray Cochrane, Allan Loughran and Lorne Demchuk. Along with great hockey action, the weekend afforded a great opportunity to reunite with old friends on their former home ice.
